BROOKLYN, 9; NEW YORK, 6.

There was a surprising reversal of form at the Polo Grounds yesterday afterneon. The New Yorks played ball after the style of the ooklyns during most of this season, while the Brooklyns hustled around the way Joyce's men have been doing since early in June. If the teams had exchanged uniforms the spectaels would not have appeared so strange. Six scorable errors were made by the New Yorks, but they committed other blunders. Adopting severity as the standard for scoring, their misplays would easily foot up a dozen Joyce's work at third base was poor. after a day's rest, returned and played weak ball. Clark and McCreery were also attacked with the general error malady. Such support was enough to discourage any pitcher, and Rusie was not biamed very much when his curves were pounded. He was not in his best form, though, a tendency to be wild keeping Warner on a continual jump. With men on bases the New Yorks showed a lack of team work, and on several occasions the coachers boxes were unoccupied.

though, a tendency to be wild keeping Warner on a continual jump. With men on bases the New Yorks showed a lack of team work, and on several occasions the coachers' boxes were unoccupied.

Alec Smith, Brooklyn's spare catcher, was the "white-haired boy" with the rooters from over the bridge. Alec's Broadway friends were out in force, and he received an ovation. His batting really won the game for his side. Gleason robbed him of a hit the first time up, but later Smith's bat was so big that he made the hall look like a Park row "sinker." He was instrumental in sending four runs across the plate, his three-bagger in the eighth putting the game out of the local's reach. Payne pitched a cool, steady game, in spite of the efforts of the crowd, which included the belininger, to rattle him. George Smith was unable to play, so Shoch covered short field in a way that brought cheers from the Brooklyn supporters. Pitcher Dunn, who played second base, was responsible for half of the New Yorks runs.

There was little or no kicking. Once or twice there was a half-smothered groan on the part of Joyce on a close decision. But there was no tiresome wranging and no coat pulling. Umpire Lynch's work was well-nigh perfect, and when he walked on the field before the game he got a round of applause.

Both dies scored two runs in the first inning, all of winch were due to errors. The Brooklyns started off with the fiect-footed Jones at bat, and the latter quickly reached first on a fumble by Joyce. Griffin drove a base hit to right and McCreery tried to shut Jones off at third with a fast throw. Joyce failed to stop the ball, which rolled to the scats, and Jones scored. Griffin stopping at third. Shindle rapped the ball to Gleason, and the latter made a throw to the plate to catch Griffin. The ball went a foot over Warner's head, and Capt. Mike ran in. Shindle reached second meanwhile, and when he handed at third and hone. Davis deprived Shoch of a hit by making a great running stop and the side was out.

Is New York's half, with Van reached the plate. Then Barnie's men tied the score. With one out, Gleason missed Payne's sharp grounder and Rusie hit Jones on the leg with a pitched ball. Griffin singled to centre, scoring Payne, and Shindle rolled one to Clark, who threw wildly to the plate, letting Jones in.

Philadelphians Arranging for International

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 11.-Considerable terest is being manifested in this ci y in the coming international cricket games with Capt. Warner's team of English cricketers. The first game, which will begin on next Friday at Manheim, will be between the visitors and a team of Philadelphia colts, twenty-two in number. The latter are under 23 years old and never have played in an international match. A strong aggregation of youngsters has been se-lected and it is thought the team will stand an excellent chance of victory. In the second and third games, which will be played between the Englishmen and the Gentlemen of Philadelphia at Elmwood and Merion, it is expected that the local men will make up the strongest team that has ever played for Philadel bla. A. M. Wood, J. A. Lester, G. S. Patterson, J. B. King, E. M.

The Arbroath Club played a good game against the Paterson second eleven at Prispect Park yesterday, the result being a draw. The scores were: Arbroath, 44 for six wickets; Paterson, 95. The second team of the New Jersey A. C. was scheduled to play a return match against the Columbias at Central Park yesterlay, but the former preferred to forfeit the game rather than risk the wicket on the North Meadow.

ferred to forfeit the game rather than risk the wicket on the North Meadow.

Only one game was played at Central Park yesterday. The Stay at homes, who are open to meet all comers on the North Meadow, defeat it he Yorkville Second by 31 runs. For the winners, J. Phelan scored 20 and P. Albenga 11; for Yorkville, A. de Blacquier made 11. The totals were: Stay-at-homes, 70; Yorkville Second, 39.

The Paterson Oricket Club visited Prospect Park yesterday for a gene with the Manhattans, and made a draw of what at one time seemed a probable bad defeat. Against Manhattan's total of 39. Paterson had don't six wickets for 23 runs, when W. Hindle and J. Robertson, by good defensive play, kept toccher until siumps were drawn. The totals were: Manhattan, 39. Paterson, 50, for six wickets.

The English team went to Staten Island yesterday to get some practice at the nets. G. L. Jessop was the centre of interest, and winn he went in to bat his highitting was the subject of general comm. It. F. G. Bull, the crack slow bowler, was also wathed with interest. The ceneral option was that he would be successful in this country. Owing to the heat the visitors stopped their work earlier than expected, and they went over to Bergen Point to see the New York eleven play. Boston, Sept. 11.-Eddie McDuffle made a gallant attempt to lower the mile record at Charles River Park this afternoon, but owing to a head wind he was unable to do better than 1 minute 40 2-5 seconds. A heavy shower preceded the races, leaving the air damp and chilly and the track decidedly unfavorable for record breaking. Eddie took his position behind the first "sex," which was in turn paced by the other "sex" for two laps. A good start was made and the first quarter was reeled off in 22 seconds, but a head wind faced the riders in the backstretch, somewhat impeding their progress. The pace dropped off in the second lap, but after the second big machine drouned out the first "sex" out loose and carried McDuffle to the tape in a great sport, all the watches stopping at 1:40 2-5. Mc Duffle was urged to make another trial, but decided not to on account of the chilly air.

The movements of the Associated Cycling Clubs of California, who have assumed control of Sunday racing on the Pacific Coast, are watched with great eagerness by the officers of the L. A. W. The early race meets held in that section were fairly successful and the outlook for a general secession of Western riders from the League looked encouraging. Lately, however, advices of the progress of the Sunday Racing League indicate that general dissatisfaction is fell by the racing men, their confinement to purely local tournaments spreading discord in their ranks. A prominent wheelman in San Francisco describes the situation as follows:

discord in their ranks. A prominent wheelman in San Francisco describes the situation as follows:

"The L. A. W. national circuit has been a success far beyond the anticipations of the riders in this State. Great numbers of new men are coming to the front, and yet California has by her own act cut herself off from all part in this great circuit. The men who howled long and loudly for Sunday racing have it, and it has been in a measure a success, but whether it is worth the price paid is another story.

"The racing season in this State, if the meets held on the Olympic circuit are entitled to such a title, so far have not been very prosperous. In this city there has not been one meet since the Velodrome flasco, and yet we are told that when Sunday racing was the rule there would be Sunday meets with great crowds.

"Some of the best racing men are beginning to see the situation more clearly now, and they realize, just as was predicted when the Sunday racing movement began, that they have paid the penality—suspension by the L. A. W—for the violation of the League rules.

"The men who have engineered the secession movement and the meet promoters are the only persons who have fared in any way satisfactority. The riders are cut off from the national circuit and all League meets, and the loudly talked of substitute—Sunday races—has failed o materialize. As a result of this condition of affairs, the best men are now looking toward the League f id, and soon there will probably be prodicals asking for restoration to their former standing.

"The Northwest has been agitated over some talk of a tag secession from the L. A. W., and a consolidation of interests with the Associated Ciubs, but the sentiment is so strong against such a movement that the leading racing men have openly declared their intention of sinking to the L. A. W.. sociation began last week. The great rivalry in athletics among the schools gives promise of Nothing in this section shall debar any contestant who was eligible to take part in the spring games of the preceding scholastic year. The wheelmen in Canada are greatly agitated over the inability of the Canadian Wheeimen's Association recognizing the Associated Cycling Clubs of California as holding jurisdiction over cycling in that territory. It is evident that the Canadians will lose the allegiance of their riders in British Columbia unless they recognize the organization on the Pacific coast. The official organ of the C. W. It was formed by the cyclists of California, because they believed they could run their own affairs much better than the L. A. W. mea adoing. Many crawinle prominent L. A. W. men are connected with the C. A. C. C. and its influence appears to be spreading to other States beyond the licekies. Just what the association's strength is la hard to determine at this distance.

However, be the success of the C. A. C. C. little or great, the time has arrived when the Canadian Wheelmen's Association must either recognize or great. The time has arrived when the Canadian Wheelmen's Association must either recognize of short. Some time ago liftish Columbia requested that the blacklisted riders of the C. A. C. C. be allowed to compete in races sanctioned by the C. W. A. This request was not granted, the new association being told that when it demonstrated lis control over cycling affairs in its jurisdiction, action would be taken. Now liftish Columbia wants the question settled one way or the other. The success of their race meets depends very larg by upon the presence of these American coast riders, and while no threats have been made it is believed that it would not take much to cause liftish Columbia to throw off allegiance to the C. W. A. and cast in its lot with the C. A. C. C.

The racing side of the question is not the only one, however, and we believe that it is for racing alone that the C. A. C. C. exists. There are other considerations which it would not considerations which it would not considerations which it would be well to consider. Surely the interests of the H. C. Wheelmen as a whole can better be served and preserved by a Canadian organization than by an American coast association. We are brothers and friends. What is for the good of one broeffice and the consideration of Constant. Rivierre, the Prench

In the recent twenty-four-hour race he retired at the seventeenth hour, hoping to recruit his strength by a clamation. "Save me from my irlends." In the recent twenty-four-hour race he retired at the seventeenth hour, hoping to recruit his strength by a clambour year. Some well-meaning, but infaulted friends gave him a potion, a sort of mysterious endurance-num-speed elixir, which, by all accounts, nearly settled him. He was selzed with violent abdominal pains, and for days afterward felt the effect of this rastic remedy. So sore does he feel about it, mentally and physically, that no one clare mention the speed intrure in his presence. From such like philips and probability and provided in the remediant of the probability of the second marking and the remediant of the like the feel.

Rivierre goes to the United States to try his luck in various handicaps of six, twelve, and twenty-four hours duration. Our American cousins seem still able to tolerate long endurance fixtures as winner the recent six days grind at Boston. Time we winner such events evoked more than passing interest of the recent six days' grind at Boston. Time we have been accompleted by the seld-stired ordinaries competed. But the British public will not now go beyond a twenty-four-hour show, and our American cousins are welcome to keep their six days' grinds as long as they please on their side of the hering pand.

Great uncertainty exists among the political leaders of the L.A. W. in relation to the selection of candidates for new national officers of the League, The suggestion that the Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, and New Jersey divisions are welcome to keep their six days' grinds as long as they please on their side of the heritage and the novement is on foot calculated to weaken New York is successful.

Audubon Yacht Club, foot of 152d street and North River, at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. When Hooper dived into the water the morning of his departure he weighed 161 pounds, and at the float yesterday he only tipped the beam at 1284s pounds.

Hooper has engaged in similar performances prior to this, but claims that his present feat is his best. He certainly did not show any effects from his long awim. He claims that he was in a good position to make a far superior record were it not for the many craft on the water which persisted in getting in his way. Hooper had a narrow escape from drowning at Albany, and had to be taken aboard his trainers' boat, owing to sheer exhaustion. The feat was performed for a purse of $500 and a medal.

or is in fact practical. Officers of the L.A. W. know that the Western members of the organization have been anxious for the selection of one of their tepresentatives as president for years, and this time they say that they are determined to bush their claims. For the general welfare of the League in the west it might be an excellent idea to select a Westerner for the next President. You will see that the West will be opposed to a combination including the three divisions mentioned, and if supported by New York and the Southern yotes could defeat any movement from the Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Massachusetts men. Suppose these three divisions have combined as reported. What is their motive! If Pennsylvania seeks the Presidency next year, naturally she must concede the First Vice-President to the West; and if the plan is togive the office of Second Vice to Massachusetts, where will the New Jersey contingent come in unless they seek to secure the office of Treasurer for their State!

"Combinations are invariably entered into for the distribution of patronage, and the L.A. W. will hardly countenance three of the league officers in the East. Sectional dissensions would result, and incalculable harm result to the organization throughout the country. The position of the organization is such that its official affairs will require careful treatment at the next meeting of the assembly. Admitting that schemes are now aloot alming to place certain men at the head of the affairs of the League next year, the voting members in the Assembly will have to carefully weigh their ability to conduct the affairs of the L.A. W., as next year it is anticipated that the membership will exceed 100,000, and the scope of the organization is

The fact that the Amateur Athletic Union holds a one-mile national bicycle championship each season has suggested the point that the L. A. W. should discountenance this event. The national one-mile L. A. W. championship was won by C. M. Eriz of the Riverside Wheelmen of this city at the Philadelphia meet. Naturally this rider received the championship title. Following the League meet the A. A. U. holds its annual championships, and among the events is a one-mile bicycle race, which was won by I' A. Powell of the N. Y. A. C. The point is now raised as to which rider is really the amateur champion at one mile. Both men have won championships at the same distance, but under the auspices of different organizations controlling amateur sport. troling amateur sport.

The accessions to the professional ranks of leading amateurs this year has led to the belief that the big cash purses offered by meet promoters was the alluring bait, but it develops that in the majority of cases the transfers have been compulsory. The racing rules of the L. A. W. pro thit the payment of expenses to amateurs by clubs, but this rule is violated by a number of organizations who aim to maintain racing teams, with the result that the riders finally find themselves under the investigation of the Racing Board, and a quick transfer to the cash-prize ranks invariably follows.

The Racing Board is cognizant that some of the leading clubs are paying the expenses of racing men this year, and they are keeping a cluse watch on the organizations uncer sustain in all sections. When amateur riders from distant points ride for clubs in the Metropolitan district suspicion naturally points that these men have their expenses defrayed. The Racing Board now has a number of clubs in this section under investigation for this practice.
